

WELCOME!

Thanks for being here. Big things are happening with the Denver Police Museum, and we couldn't be happier to share them with you!

The Denver Police Museum is helping to create safer, stronger, and more vibrant communities in Denver and beyond. As a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, DPM is dedicated to providing opportunities for people to hear, see, feel, participate, understand, and appreciate the value of police in our lives and communities. We couldn't do it without you.

2025 International Police Chief Conference Denver

This October, Denver will host the International Police Chiefs Convention. This is the third time our city has been chosen to host this important international event. We previously hosted the event in 1975 and 2009. We are honored to host it again in 2025! Over 18,000 police officers throughout the world are expected to participate in this conference. It is a great opportunity to see the latest technology and training techniques available to officers and police departments throughout the world. Planning has been going on since last year's very successful conference in Boston. The Denver Police Museum is honored to be included in the Conference. The Museum will display Denver Police Department artifacts at the Convention Center along with our auto collection, including the 1930 Model A, the 1964 Ford Galaxie, the 1978 Chevy Nova and the 1998 Crown Victoria. We are looking for volunteers to help us with our booth. Please email Mike Hesse at mhesse@denverpolicemuseum.org if you are interested in volunteering.

Youth Events

The Museum is proud to serve Denver area schools through immersive educational programs that incorporate fun and interactive learning for middle school and high school youth. These programs deliver age-appropriate content, create pathways for career exploration in law enforcement, STEM, and public service, and help to build trust between youth and law enforcement.

Youth Programs Impact Report

The Museum's mission is to help create safer, stronger, and more vibrant communities in Denver and beyond. A focus area of our programs is to build community bridges, particularly with youth.

Thanks to the outstanding leadership of Denver Police Museum Treasurer and Museum Youth Coordinator April Overman, the Museum continues to have great success with our many youth programs. We've received encouraging feedback from students and enthusiastic testimonials from partners on the positive impact of our youth programs.

A big thank you to April and the many volunteers who have driven our success over the years and continue to help the Museum make a significant impact on the lives of Denver youth.

Traffic Safety Program for DPD Families

The Denver Police Museum and DPD District 3 Officers hosted a Traffic Safety event for DPD families, students learned what to do, and not do on a traffic stop, and what to do in an accident. Students also experienced mock traffic stops.

Denver Days Winston Downs Neighborhood

Denver Police Academy Recruit Class 25-2

On July 28, representatives of the Denver Police Museum had the privilege of welcoming the 52 new Denver Police recruits on their first day at the Denver Police Academy. This is the Museum's new tradition of taking the first class photo along with a vehicle from our fleet.

Lincoln Tech Event

A special shout out to retired Denver Police Officers Fred and Barb Cisneros, and Denver Police Museum Volunteer Doug Pratt for attending the annual Lincoln Tech Classic Car Auto Show. The Museum has always attempted to participate in the Car Show to show our appreciation to the folks at Lincoln Tech for the important role their students played in the restoration of our 1964 Ford Galaxie Police Car. Denver Police District 5 always has a strong presence at the event.

The Denver Police Museum's Fleet Expands!

The Denver Police Museum would like to thank Marie Dabis of the Denver Police Department and members of Denver City Council who voted to transfer the ownership of this 1978 Nova to the Museum for preservation. This car was listed on the DPD fleet from 1978 through July 2025. This makes this car the longest serving Denver Police car in history.

Interestingly, this model did not last very long in the DPD fleet. When they were purchased they were underpowered and not large enough to transport prisoners and allow for officers to get in and out of easily with their equipment.

Denver and Los Angeles purchased these patrol cars in response to the energy crisis of the era. This particular vehicle survived primarily because it was used to haul the bomb container and was displayed for several years at the police academy.

In recent years the car has been used for community outreach. We bring current police cars next to the Nova so that students can see how technology has changed throughout the years. Historic automobiles can serve as an ice breaker since folks are sometimes hesitant to talk to officers.

The Nova joins the Museum car collection composed currently of a 1930 Ford Model A, a 1964 Ford Galaxy, and a 1998 crown Victoria. The Museum's long-term plans include having a police car from every decade.

From the Archives

News article from July 16, 1923, announcing new Chief after ousting Chief Candish. This reorganization was designed to better respond to criminal elements involved in prohibition. Patrolman could now assist the bootleg squad in enforcement of law.

Thank you so much for helping us make these events possible and for your participation!
